Gauge
20 stitches and 22 rounds to 4 in (10 cm)
In single crochet worked in a spiral, the piece stuffed.

You will need

Yarn A: warm brown, the head, the body, the ears, the arms and the legs	about 135 yd (123 m), an estimate
Yarn B: cream, the muzzle	about 5 yd (5 m), an estimate
Yarn C: dark brown, the nose and the eyes	about 2 yd (2 m), an estimate

Hook: 3.5 mm (US E-4). Also: toy stuffing, yarn needle, stitch marker, scissors, pins and a length of thread in another color, to mark the front line.

To find how many balls: divide by the length on your yarn's label and round up. Yarns A and B: the estimate is from the stitches of this size at this gauge, with 30 percent added. Yarn C: the estimate is from the stitches of this size at this gauge. To measure your own: work ten stitches, mark the yarn at both ends, pull them out, measure between the marks and divide by ten; multiply by the number of stitches.

Gauge

20 stitches and 22 rounds to 4 in (10 cm) in single crochet worked in a spiral, the piece stuffed.

Work tightly enough that the stuffing does not show. Every size given is about, and moves with your gauge.

The gauge piece. A test piece to measure and pull out. It is not the start of the pattern. A toy's gauge is measured on a small piece worked in the round, not on a flat swatch. Work the gauge piece (20 rounds), stuff it lightly, press its open edge flat and measure: about 3 in (7.5 cm) from fold to fold, which is half of its 30 stitches, and about 1¾ in (4.5 cm) over ten of its even rounds. If it is wider, use a smaller hook; if it is narrower, a larger one. 20 rounds. Stuff it lightly before you measure. It is not part of the toy, and its yarn is not in the amounts.

Before you start

- Worked in a spiral with the right side facing: do not join the rounds and do not turn. Put the stitch marker in the first stitch of every round, move it up as you go, and count the stitches against the number at the end of the line.
- Right side out: the side facing you as you work is the outside of the piece. A small piece often curls so that the wrong side faces out; push it through to the right side after a few rounds.
- Magic ring: wrap the yarn round two fingers, work round 1 into the loop, then pull the tail until the ring is closed. If you prefer, begin with 2 chains and work round 1 into the first of them.
- Sc2tog on a stuffed piece: put the hook under the front loop only of each of the next two stitches, then finish the stitch as one. It closes more neatly than working under both loops.
- BLO is back loop only: put the hook under the back loop of the stitch, the one farther from you, and not under both. The front loops left over make a ridge on the outside, and the piece turns a corner there: that ridge is the edge of a flat base.
- Square brackets hold a repeat: work what is inside as many times as it says. The number in parentheses at the end of a line is the stitches that round leaves.
- Written for right-handed work. Left-handed makers work round the other way, which mirrors the lean of the stitches; every place in this pattern is given for right-handed work.

- Front and back. Each piece that other pieces or details are placed on has a front, fixed once on one round: on the head, stitch 22 of round 9 (which has 42 stitches); on the body, stitch 22 of round 10 (which has 42 stitches). Count along that round with the marked first stitch as stitch 1, and mark the stitch named with a scrap of yarn as you work the round. When the piece is finished, run a marking thread straight up and down the piece through that stitch, by eye, not by following a column of stitches (stitches lean in a spiral, so a column drifts). The side opposite the thread is the back. Every place in this pattern is given from that thread, the front line, and from parts already on. Trust the thread and your eye over the stitch numbers.
- Color changes: where a line says "With B", work the last pull-through of the stitch before it in the new color. Cut the old color leaving 4 in (10 cm), knot the two ends together inside and leave them there. In a spiral the new color starts one round higher than the old one ends, so a change shows as a small step where the round begins. Where you can, turn the piece as you sew it on so that the step is at the back or underneath.
- Rounds are counted from the start of each piece: round 1 is worked into the ring.
- Sewing on. Every seam is sewn with a yarn tail and the yarn needle in whip stitch: take the needle through a stitch of the edge and through the stitch or the fabric it lies against, pull the yarn through, and move on one stitch, always in the same direction. An open edge takes one sewing stitch for each of its stitches, under both loops of the stitch unless its step says otherwise; a flattened edge is sewn through both of its layers.
- Read the whole pattern before sewing anything on: each detail is given at the point where it is simplest to do.
- Details are worked after the toy is stuffed and sewn, each place pinned or marked first and judged from the front.
- Every size here is about, and grows and shrinks with your gauge. For a larger toy use a thicker yarn and a larger hook, keeping the fabric tight enough that the stuffing does not show.
- It rests on the flat base of the body, with the two legs in front.

Instructions

Square brackets [ ] hold a repeat: work what is inside as many times as it says. The count in round brackets at the end of a line is what that line leaves. Tick the box when a round is done. In UK terms sc is double crochet and sc2tog is double crochet 2 stitches together.

Head

Yarn A, warm brown.

Size at 20 stitches and 22 rounds to 4 in (10 cm): about 2¾ in (6.7 cm) across and 2¾ in (6.7 cm) tall. 23 rounds, 666 stitches.

Round 1 is the top of the head; the last round is underneath, where the body is sewn on.

Before round 22: Stuff firmly now, and top up just before the last round.

Body

Yarn A, warm brown.

Size at 20 stitches and 22 rounds to 4 in (10 cm): about 2¾ in (6.7 cm) across and 2¾ in (7.1 cm) tall, on a flat base about 1½ in (3.8 cm) across. 21 rounds, 642 stitches.

Round 1 is the middle of the flat base the bear sits on; the open edge is the neck.

After round 21: Stuff firmly before sewing on, up to the open edge. Do not pack the stuffing hard against the base: it should stay nearly flat.

Assembly

1. Sew the open edge of the body (24 stitches) to the head, centered on its closed end (its last round). The edge lies along round 20 of the head, which has 24 stitches. Both have 24 stitches: sew them stitch for stitch. Line up the front threads of the two pieces.

For your own crochet, gifts and handmade pieces you sell. Do not resell or share this PDF.

2. Flatten each ear. Pin the two to the head over rounds 2 to 8 (counted from the start of the head), one on each side, the middle of each 5 stitches from the front line on round 5 (10 stitches apart, of 24 in that round). The flat edge is 6 stitches long and runs up and down across the rounds: one end 2 and a half stitches from the front line on round 2 (of 12 in that round), the other end 7 stitches from the front line on round 8 (of 36 in that round). They point up and out to the side. Look from the front and from above to check before sewing. Sew the flat edge down through both layers, every stitch. A flattened ear this size may flop. If it does, catch the back of it to the head with a stitch or two, beside the middle of its sewn edge.

3. Pin the muzzle to the head over rounds 12 to 17 (counted from the start of the head), on the front line. The open edge has 18 stitches and covers about 6 stitches across and 6 rounds up and down. It stands straight out from the head. Look from the front and from above to check before sewing. Sew every stitch of the edge to the head.

4. Pin the two arms to the body over rounds 14 to 17 (counted from the start of the body), one on each side, the middle of each 9 and a half stitches from the front line between rounds 15 and 16, counted on round 16 (19 stitches apart, of 36 in that round). The open edge has 12 stitches and covers about 4 stitches across and 4 rounds up and down. They point down and forward, which is not straight out from the body there, so the edge is sewn on at a slant. The middle of the far end of each comes to lie level with round 9 of the body, 6 and a half stitches from the front line on its own side (of 36 in that round), about ¾ in (1.9 cm) out from the body there: mark that place on the body with a pin and check the far end against it before sewing. Look from the front and from above to check before sewing. Sew every stitch of the edge to the body. Then, with the same tail, sew the side of each arm that touches the body down for 7 rounds of the arm, counted from its open edge, so it stays where it points.

5. Pin the two legs to the body over rounds 6 to 11 (counted from the start of the body), one on each side, the middle of each 5 stitches from the front line between rounds 8 and 9, counted on round 9 (10 stitches apart, of 36 in that round). The open edge has 16 stitches and covers about 5 stitches across and 6 rounds up and down. They point forward, which is not straight out from the body there, so the edge is sewn on at a slant. The middle of the far end of each comes to lie level with round 8 of the body, 3 stitches from the front line on its own side (of 36 in that round), about 1¼ in (3.1 cm) out from the body there: mark that place on the body with a pin and check the far end against it before sewing. Ease the edge to fit as you sew, so that the far end stays where it is pinned. Look from the front and from above to check before sewing. Sew every stitch of the edge to the body. Sew them on with the bear sitting on the table, so that they rest on it with the base.

Finishing

- Work the details below last, after the toy is stuffed and its parts are sewn on, so that each can be judged against what is already there. Stuffing moves things: pin or mark each place first and look from the front.
- Eyes: with dark brown, embroider two on the head, between rounds 10 and 11 (counted from the start of the head), 4 stitches either side of the front line (8 apart, of 42 in that round), each about 1 stitch wide and 1 and a half rounds tall. To make each: bring the yarn up at the bottom, take it down at the top, and lay two or three such stitches side by side until it is the size given; do not pull them tight.
- Bring both ends of each embroidery yarn out at one place on the back of the piece, knot them and bury them inside.
- Sew each piece on firmly and weave every tail inside the toy.

In all: 9 pieces; 8 sewn joins; 122 stitches of edge to sew; 1,970 stitches (666 in the head, 642 in the body, 60 in each ear, 66 in the muzzle, 112 in each arm, 126 in each leg); 1 color change; 20 ends to weave in.
